

BALKAN CRIMINOLOGY

■ One-Week International Intensive Course Dubrovnik / Croatia, 10-14 October 2016

Crime and Criminology in the Balkans

The 'Balkan Criminology' One-Week Intensive Course provides in-depth and up-to-date knowledge about the state of art in crime research in the Balkans, while introducing its participants to the basics of criminological methodology, phenomenology and etiology. It is part of the overall scientific programme of the Max Planck Partner Group for 'Balkan Criminology' – MPPG (www.balkan-criminology.eu) which is jointly established between the Max Planck Institute for Foreign and International Criminal Law in Freiburg/Germany (www.mpicc.de) and the Faculty of Law – University of Zagreb/Croatia (www.pravo.hr) and funded by Germany's leading research foundation – the Max Planck Society (www.mpg.de).

The course serves as a platform for the dissemination of criminological expertise gathered through the MPPG scientific activities: The MPPG research focuses (Violence, Organized Crime and Illegal Markets; Feelings and Perceptions of (In) Security and Crime; International Sentencing), as well as the expertise gathered at the annual conferences. This concept of transforming newest research findings and expertise from and for the region into transmittable knowledge for course participants ensures a holistic approach that combines education with science and research. The added value for course participants is, besides the knowledge itself, the networking opportunity with colleagues from the region and the possibility to present their PhD/Master/Diploma thesis before internationally and regionally renown experts.

■ Basic Course Structure

Participants arrive on Sunday, 09 October 2016. The course starts on Monday morning and lasts until Friday noon. The programme includes key note lectures, students' presentations, academic writing and further soft skills trainings, and extensive exchange and discussion. In addition, a Dubrovnik city tour is offered. The detailed programme will be available at the Balkan Criminology website in due time.

The course is accredited by the Zagreb Faculty of Law and offers 4 ECTS credits.

■ Special Feature: Student Paper Competition

The best student paper of the 2016 BC course will be awarded and selected for publication in the European Journal of Criminology.

■ Course Directors

Hans-Jörg Albrecht, Max Planck Institute, Freiburg, Germany • Anna-Maria Getoš Kalac, University of Zagreb, Croatia • Michael Kilchling, Max Planck Institute, Freiburg, Germany • Almir Maljević, University of Sarajevo, Bosnia and Herzegovina • John Winterdyk, Mount Royal University, Canada.

■ Venue: Inter University Centre Dubrovnik (IUC)

Dubrovnik has a long history as an independent city-state, always promoting a rich and fertile environment for scientific and artistic developments at the cross-roads of a wide range of trade and contact routes located between East and West, North and South. Dubrovnik is considered a perfect setting for contemporary efforts to exchange knowledge and ideas. After the academic part of the course, participants may explore Dubrovnik's rich history, visit museums, churches, walk the City walls, visit other scientific institutions, attend concerts, or just enjoy the natural Mediterranean ambience.

■ Early Registration

The course fee for participants is 150 € which includes enrolment, participation in the lectures and student materials. For early registration by 27 June 2016, a reduced early bird fee of 100 € is available. IUC will charge an additional fee of 40 €.
